

Telephone companies are the worst culprits for telephone solicitations. Even though you tell them not to call again, they always do.

I urge you to force airlines, telephone companies and banks to adhere to the new national do-not-call list being implemented by the FTC. Anything short of that will be a betrayal of the public.